What is an Accountant

An accountant is a person who records business transactions on behalf of an organization, reports on company performance to management, and issues financial statements. To become a CPA in Missouri, you will need to study quite hard indeed. Uniform CPA exam candidates must have a minimum education of a bachelor's degree. Students must also complete 150 semester hours from a college or university accredited by one of the following groups: Middle States Association of Colleges and Schools, North Central Association of Colleges and Schools--Higher Learning Commission, New England Association of Schools and Colleges--Commission on Institutions of Higher Education, Northwest Commission on Colleges and Universities Western Association of Schools and Colleges--Commission for Senior Colleges, Southern Association of Colleges and Schools--Commission on Colleges

Do you need additional training to be an accountant?

Accountants need a bachelor's degree to begin working in the field. Some decide to obtain certified public accountant (CPA) licensure to increase their employability. Obtaining CPA credentials usually entails additional college coursework.
